Books By & About Johns Hopkins Hospital Doctors

William S. Baer

Thomas S. Cullen

Cullen, Thomas S. Early Medicine in Maryland. Address of the President of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, April 26, 1927. Very good. Linen spine with paper-covered boards. Dampstaining to board edges. Light dampstain to bottom corner of pages, not affecting the text of plates. With 7 black-and-white plates. Author's typed introduction pasted in at front. $25.

Cullen, Thomas S. The Distribution of Adenomyomas Containing Uterine Mucosa. Chicago: American Medical Association Press, 1920. Very good in 1/4 blue cloth with paper covered boards. Browning to board edges; shelfwear to corners, edges, and spine ends. 51 illustrations by Brodel (1 in color). 69pp. This paper was an address before the Western Surgical Association in 1919, reprinted from the Archives of Surgery, September 1920, Vol I. $50.

Walter E. Dandy

Dandy, Walter E.; edited by Alton Ochsner & Owen H. Wangensteen. Surgery, vol 19, no.5. May 1946. St. Louis: C. V. Mosby Company, 1946. Issue of the monthly journal devoted to the art and science of surgery. Dr. Walter E. Dandy Birthday Number, dedicated to him on the date of his 60th birthday, shortly after his death. (Dandy was a famed neurosurgeon, and was associated with Johns Hopkins Hospital.) Contains a biography and bibliography of Dandy, various medical articles, and extensive advertisements. $125.

J.M.T. Finney

William S. Halsted

Howard A. Kelly

Sir William Osler

Osler, William, editor. Modern Medicine. It's Theory and Practice. Philadelphia: Lea Brothers & Co., 1907. 7 volume set. Near fine in red cloth. Spines have gilt tooling, "Osler's Modern Medicine" in gilt, and gilt volume information. Includes several plates, some of which are in color, plus illustrations and charts in the text. Osler has been called the father of modern medicine, and was one of the founders of Johns Hopkins Hospital. Contents-- I: Evolution of medicine; predisposition; immunity; diseases caused by physical, chemical & organic agents; by parasites; by protozoa; nutrition; constitutional diseases. II: Infectious diseases. III: Infectious diseases (continued); respiratory tract. IV: Circulatory system, blood, spleen, thymus & lymph-glands. V: Alimentary tract. VI: Urinary system ductless glands & muscles; diseases of obscure causation; vasomotor & trophic disorders; life insurance. VII: Nervous system. $1,000.

Abbott, Maude E. Classified Bibliography of Sir William Osler. Montreal, Canada: The Medical Museum, McGill University, 1939. Fine in dark blue cloth. 163pp., index. $35.

Harvey, A. McGehee et al. Osler’s Legacy. The Department of Medicine at Johns Hopkins 1889-1989. Baltimore: Department of Medicine, The Johns Hopkins University, 1990. Fine in fine dust jacket. Quarto. 177pp. Presentation copy signed by co-author and director of the department of medicine at Johns Hopkins, John Stobo: "Toby--Thanks for your contributions to the institution and to the legacy! John D. Stobo." $60.

Arnold Rich

William S. Thayer

Helen B. Taussig

Thomas Turner

Other
